Destruction of a Large Boarding-House at Merrill Station, on the Cleveland & Pittsburg Railway, at 4:80 This Morn ing-List of the Missing-Charred Bodies Taken From the Ruins, but Not Identified-Casualties.

BEAVER, Pa., Nov. 21 .- A disastrous fire occurred at Merrill Station, on the Cleveland & Pittsburg road, at 4:30 this morning. resulting in the total destruction of the three-story hotel owned by the proprietors, Bradley & Keener, who boarded many of the men employed on the new dam.

The fire was discovered at a sliding door between the hall and a room used by a Mr. Ray as a store and post-office. At 5:10 o'clock the structure fell. There were thirty-five boarders sleeping on the second and third floors, many of whom jumped from the windows and were badly cut, bruised and burned. After a census of the boarders could be taken it was found the following were

JERRY WRENN, boss stonemason, aged 60. DAN WRENN, aged 23, of Pittsburg. JOHN KELLEY, laborer, of Woods run, aged

ROBERT STANLEY, engineer, aged 35, of New

badly burned. JAMES WINK of Beaver Falls sustained a fractured shoulder by jumping from the third-story window. He was taken to Mercy

JAMES SHEERS of Sewickly was badly burned about the face and hands.

Five dead bodies were soon taken from the , but they were so badly charred they could not be recognized. The search proceeded, and at 10:30 the supposed bodies of James Hughes, the missing engineer, and James P. Miller, a laborer of Allegheny City. were recovered from the ruins. Both bodies were burned to a crisp. This made seven bodies recovered.

The proprietors, Frank J. Bradley and Robert P. Keener, were formerly dispatchers in the Pittsburg office of the Pittsburg & Lake Erie road, but built the hotel shortly after the new dam was started, and have run it ever since. The building cost $4,000, and is insured in the Continental of New York for $1,800.

IN AT THE WICKES TUNNEL cave-in occurred in the Wickes tunnel on the Great Northern Road. The cave-in is twenty feet long, in the center of the tunnel and will take six weeks to repair. Besides the inconveniences and expense to the railroad, it cuts off all ore shipments to great Falls, where the smelters or re located. The general manager of that ompany said he would have to lay off about 0 men until the tunnel is repaired. The orthern Facific, it is said, will not allow the heavy locomotives used to haul ore trains to use their sky line at Wickes Tunwell.

DIED OF BURNS.

Verdict of the Inquest on Joseph J. Cook -The Prisoners Released.

The inquest on the remains of Joseph J. look, who was cremated in the burning of James Newberry's stable at 2844 Atlanti street, last Sunday morning, was resumed this morning about 11 o'clock, Deputy Cor oner Albers conducting the inquiry. There was little in the evidence save, som dictory testimony on the part of certain wit

The occurrence of a fight in the alley adjacent to the stable about a half hour before the fire broke out was proven beyond a doubt. The witness who testined to this fact was Joseph A. Osborne, who resides on fact was Joseph A. Osborne, who resides on Scott avenue, opposite the stable. He said he saw a group of men fighting in the alley, but he could not identify any of them. As far as could be learned from the other witnesses there was a fight in which the participants were not either Thomas Madden, John Flynn, John Keenan or Cook. Suspicion was thrown on the case by the statements made by Madden when first arrested and afterward brought to the Coroner. To Capt. Boyd Madden stated first that there was only one man in the stable with him when the fire broke out and he could not identify him. Then to the Coroner he admitted that Cook, Keenan and Flynn were with him in the stable.

John Flynn, the peddler who was arrested last night and who occupied the same feedbox with Cook, testined that when he woke up about 2 o'clock Sunday morning Cook was beside him in the box and the hay at their feet was burning briskly. "I called to Cook to get out, and he said 'All right.' I then ran out of the stable and went to the house of James Newberry, the proprietor, to get a shirt and shoe, because I had lost both these articles in the fire. When I came back I rescued a mule and remained around the fire some time, but as the police did not seem to want me, I thought Cook had got out all right, but when I aid not see him around the fire afterward I came to the conclusion that he was in the stable. Keenan did not come around the fire afterward anything of a fight and know that I was not in one during that night." Owing to the fact that the evidence did not show that Cook had been asseulted before the fire, but that he was warned of the danger, a verdict was returned assigning Cook's death to burns received in a burning stable, the origin of the fire being unknown. Madden and Flynn, the prisoners, were thereupon released. It was learned by Detectives Danaher and Schoppe that Keenan, the missing witness who was in the stable before the fire, would have come before the Coroner were it not for the fact that he is now wanted on the charge Scott avenue, opposite the stable. He said

Railway Sustained. JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 21 .- An opinion, to which Judge Sherwood dissented, was handed down to-day in the Supreme Court affecting railway interests. The case wi doubtless go into court in banc, and possibl to the United States Supreme Court.

The case is styled "Leonard Matthews, respondent, vs. St. Luis & San Francisco Railway Co," and comes from St. Louis County. Matthews sued and got judgment against the company for the destruction of valuable property by fire he character. against the company for the destruction of valuable property by fire, he charging that the fire originated from sparks from the company's engine. The Court sustains the judgment, Sherwood dissenting on the ground that the statute is unconstitutional under which the judgment's awarded. He holds that it is unconstitutional to compel the company to prove that the fire was not caused from one of their enginest when there was no proof brought to show that the sparks causing the fire were from a certain engine belonging to the company. In other words, any tramp could start a fire on the company's right of way and the fire spreading to adjoining property, the company, under this statute, could be held responsible as having started the fire from one of its engines, as plaintiff would not have to prove that it was done from sparks from the engine.

NO SETTLEMENT YET.

Chie's Arthur and Sargent Confer With

Grand Chief Arthur and Grand Chief Sar gen were in conference until 1.30 o'clock this afternoon with General Manager Ramser of the St. Louis Terminal Association regarding the grievance of the employes of the company. The employes claim that the new men who have been employed have been promoted over them, that the Association has not lived up to its agreement and has wiolated its contract in many respects. Messrs. Sargent and Arthur state that they had quite an agreeable conference with Mr. Hamsey to-day, but that no definite understanding or any kind of a compromise was reached. The two grand chiefs, together with a committee from the Brotherbood of Railway Trainmen, will meet the Association general manager at 4 o'clock this afternoon with the hope of effecting an amicable settlement.

SEARCH ABANDONED.

MISSOULA, Mont., Nov. 21.—The search for he Carlin party was abandoned by the military authorities at this point, the expedition having been given up as hopeless. Every possible effort to rescue the party has been made, even to the extent of endangering the lives of the soldiers and the loss of animals, lives of the soldiers and the loss of animals, wagons and other equipments. The snow is too deep and impenetrable in many places and where no snow exists the streams are too much swollen to admit of progress. In fact it is now feared that the rescuing party will be unable to return to Missoula, as the condition of the Lole River, which must be crossed thirty-three times, is impassable. Gen. Carlin from Vancouver expresses the belief that his son and companions are lost and will perish in the mountains, though he has offered a large personal reward to any one who will venture on another attempt. There is still a possibility that the besieged party may have found safe shelter with an old trapper named Jerry, though this fact will not be ascertained until next spring.

VIBOQUA, Wis., Nov. 21 .- The death of Gen Rusk came like a bolt of lightning from the sky. There was not the slightest indication of the approaching end. Col. Henry Casson his former private secretary, left his bed side at 9 o'clock last night and gave to an assembled crowd of the General's friends the most positive assurance that the crisis was surely past. Gen. Rusk himself said to his physicians during the evening: "Boys Rusk had a first attack similar to that which prostrated him on his last bed of sickness. The physician then decided that the trouble was disorder of the stomach. The treatment at that time was successful in removing the more severe symptoms and for some time the General thought himself cured. Of recent years, however, there have been slight recurrences of the attack, and while not of such severity as to seriously impair the General's health, they have been a warning of what must come in time. Last year, while at the National Encampment of the G. A. R. at Indianapolis, Gen. Rusk met surgeon-General Hamilton and explained his symptoms to him, and the physician made a diagnosis of the case. He decided that Gen. Rusk was suffering from enlargement of the grand. Within two months this enlargement of the gland caused the formation of an abcess near the bladder, and the abcess gradually involved the gland. Seven weeks ago, Gen. Rusk's condition became so serious that he was obliged to take to his bed. Still no alarm was felt for his life. On Nov. 10, Dr. Hamilton was summoned from Chicaso and a consultation was held. It was decided that an operation was held. It was decided the account of the could not endure having the tube again inserted. It was not thought, however, that death was so near at hand, and the end was a shock to his friends. Up to ten minutes of dissolution he talked with his watchers, and he appeared to drop into a peaceful sleep. Death came without pein.

The ex-Secretary of Agriculture was a native of Ohio. He was born in Morgan County, in that State, in 1880, and resided there until 1883, when he removed to Wisconsin, where he became a farmer. There wasn't anything warlike about him in his young days, and but for the breaking out of the rebellion he would in all probability have remained a peaceful and prosperous farmer all his life. He enlisted in 1862, was commissioned major of the 25th Wisconsin Regiment, rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and served with Gen. William T. Sherman from the slege of Vicksburg until the close of the war. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1855 for meritorious service at the battle of Saikahatchie.

Gen. Rusk, like many other army officers, graduated from the battle-fields of the rebellion into public life. Elected Bank Comptroller of Wisconsin in 1896, he was re-elected twice and retired from his position to enter Congress in 1870. He served three terms in the House of Representatives, his chief labor being confined to the Committee on Fensions, of which he was chairman. He was tendered by President Garfield the post of Charge d'Affaires in Paraguay and Uruguay, also that of Chief of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, both of which he declined.

Gov. Rusk wasn't a safe man to fool with. They decided to be peaceable during the remainder of his term. Gen. Rusk was known the country over as "Uncle Jerry" Rusk, and had a clean record, both as a politician and soldier. While never a leader of great prominence in his party, in a national sense, his name has often been mentioned as a Presidential possibility. He was the second Secretary of Agriculture, Norman J. Colman of Missouri being the first, the former heads of that department having been entitled commissioners. The heads of the Department of Agriculture was raised to the rank of a cabinet office in 1889.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 21.—The news of the death of ex-Secretary Rusk was reelved by Secretary Morton just as he was leaving his office to attend the Cabinet meet ing. He at once ordered the flag over the Agricultural Building to be placed at half mast out of respect to the dead Secretary, and

The Department of Agriculture will not be draped in mourning out of respect to the memory of ex-Secretary Rusk, nor will the building be closed to-day and on the day of the funeral because of the adoption of the following amendment to the last legislative appropriation bill:

"That hereafter no building owned or used for public purposes oy the Government of the United States shall be draped in mourning, and no part of the public fund shall be used for such purpose; that hereafter the Executive Department of the Government shall not be closed as a mark of respect to the memory of any deceased ex-official of the United States."

AT THE WISCONSIN CAPITAL Madison, Wis., Nov. 21 .- The news that en. Rusk was dead caused a profound hock to the Capital city. The press reports of the last two days had led to confidence that complete recovery was assured. "Uncle Jerry's" heroic form was known to every resident.

MONEY SHARK DOWNED.

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 21 .- A case of inter est to men in the State's employ and to money-lenders who kindly advance money on salary accounts, was decided to-day in the Supreme Court. One J. A. Williamson, a letter-carrier in Kapsas City, sold his pay account for one month to one Mulholland, the amount his pay account for one month to one Mulholland, the amount being $107$, the assignment being by regular form of note. At the and of the month the mail carrier drew his salary and refused to pay it over to Mulholland. Suft was brought on two counts, one being embezzling the sum of $107$, the second grand larceny of the same sum. He was convicted and given two years. The case was appealed to the Supreme Court, which roverses the case and discharges the prisoner.

In deciding the case the Court says: "The vital question in this case, the one upon which this prosecution and conviction must stand or fall, is as to the validity of the contract between the defendant and Mulholland. If the contract was void because against public policy, then the defendant must be discharged, not being guilty of any criminal offense under the statutes." The court also held that it is against public policy, and while the manner of the transaction cannot be approved or commended, dishonorable conduct is not necessarily criminal.

The mail-carrier gets off free, and the money-lender is out his $107$.

GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCES. Hogan and Ellis, Who Robbed the Reign ors Near Pleasant Hill.

PITTSPIKED, Ill., Nov. 21 .- One of the m important criminal cases on the docket of the November term of court here was the State ws. Dave Hogan and John H. Ellis. On July 6 last Hogan and Ellis, in company with another man inand Ellis, in company with another man intent on robbery, risited the house of Frank and Joe Reignor, two old Frenchmen, who lived in a lonely spot near Pleasant Hill, this county. It was supposed the Beignors had a large s um of money hid away in their secluded home, and with this in when the three men used every means of torture to make the fidular the secret hiding place, going so far as to hang them up by their feet and apply a torch to their bare backs. They secured oetween $4,000 and $6,000. About and apply a torch to their bare backs. They secured oetween $4,000 and $6,000. About a week after this occurred Ellis was captured near Moberly, Mo., and soon after Hogan, colored, was captured at Hannibal. Ellis escaped from the jail here last month, but was recaptured. Hogan was given a hie-term sentence in the Chester Fentientiary, and Ellis; who turned State's evidence, twenty years. Hog an has been in the penitentiary twice before.

Louis Kaerth Says He Was Given

His Wife and Fritz Bertram Charged With Drugging Him.

MRS KARRTH SECURES HER SECOND DIVORCE ON A CROSS BILL

She Claimed That Kaerth Had Pus . Pistol to Her Head and Threatened to Kill Her-Kaerth Says He Advised Her to Perform That Office for Herself.

The second divorce case of Emilie Kaerth and Louis Kaerth was tried before Judge Withrow to-day. Louis Kaerth is a German who cannot make himself very well understood, and Mrs. Kaerth is quite a ha young German woman with rosy cheeks and far better command of Engli

Mr. Kaerth brought a suit for divorce against his wife. He stated that he was married to his wife in 1882 and lived with her married to his wife in 1822 and lived with her until she got a divorce from him in February. 1891, in the Circuit Court. After that, on the 15th of July, 1891, he made up with his wife and remarried her again in Alton, Ill. But trouble soon sprung up between them again and he began suit for divorce. He charged her with undue intimacy with one Fritz Beatants. with one Fritz Bertram, who with his wife lived in the same house with them. Kaerth put in a cross bill stating that after the second marriage her husband subjected her to endless indignities and constantly accused her of improper intimacy with Bert-ram and upon the day she left him he actually put a pistol to her head and said he would kill her if she would not confess that she was guilt of all he charged her with. She was so frightened that she fled to Chicago with her three children and stayed there for some time, being afraid to return to her home, CHLOROFORM IN HIS SOUP. On the stand Kaerth made numel ous queen statements, and among them was one to the effect that Bertram and Mrs. Kaerth had put statements, and among them was he to the effect that Bertram and Mrs. Kaerth had put chloroform in his soup so that they might carry on their illicit relations while he was unconscious on the premises.

"Did you know the chloroform was there?"
asked Judge Withrow.

"Yes, I knrw it. I saw Bertram pour it out of a bottle."

"And you just sat there and took it without resisting?"

"I couldn't help it. It made me so funny in my head all the time."

"What did they do?" asked Attorney Gottschalk, for the wife.

"I don't know. I was out of my head. I was not knowing."

"Are ou crazy?" asked the attorney.

"No, I am not crazy. I am a carpenter in my business."

Attorney Boemier, for the husband, objected and said that even if Kaerth was crazy he should not be required to admit the fact.

"Did you aver threaten to shoot very fact.

"Did you ever threaten to shoot your wife?" was asked.
"No, I never make to shoot her. I tell her if she is so bad as she is she better take mine pistol and herself her brains blow out mit.?
"Then you did not say you were going to kill her?"

ill her?"
"No, never. I tell her alway she better do it by herself alone."
Mr. Kaerth was allowed to stand down from the witness stand and his wife was called.
MRS. KAERTH CALLED.
"Did you ever give your husband chloroform when he was at dinner while Bertram with his wife in the same house and they with his wife in the same house and they came in to see us nearly every day."

"Did you and Bertram go down town together?"
"No we did not. I went sometimes with Mrs. Bertram, but not with him."
"Did Bertram ever say anything improper to you?"

"No. the is a gentieman, he is not like Kaerth," said the wife, somewhat indignantly.

"No, he is a gentieman, he is not like Kaerth," said the wife, somewhat indignantly.

"How has Bertram behaved to you?"

"Always like a gentieman."

Mrs. Bertram was next called, and she stood up in a very plucky manner for both her husband and Mrs. Kaerth. She denied all of Mr. Kaerth's allegations, and said she had always been Mrs. Kaerth's friend, and was yet and knew very well that all Kaerth's charges were false. She knew nothing about the chloroform story or the pistol incident.

During the taking of the testimony it developed that Mr. Kaerth had bought some property with what money he had saved and put it in the name of his three minor children so that he would not have to pay the $15 a month allmony taxed against him after the first decree of divorce had been granted his wife and before he remarried his wife and before he remarried his wife.

"Are you making any money now?" was asked of him.

"No. I work for my board and clothes."

"Well, don't you get any money at all?"

"Sometimes a little bit of pocket money."

"Do you do this so that your wife cannot get any alimony for the support of the children."

"No. I do it because I can't: get anything botter. -I have money in the ground?"

"In the ground what I bought with my money."

The witnesses were recalled several times as various phases of the case developed and

"In the ground what I bought with my money."
The witnesses were recalled several times as various phases of the case developed and the stenographer was excused from trying to take down many of Kaerth's statements, which were when he became excited very much mixed up. Mrs. Kaerth, however, came out with figing colors, and for the second time in about two years she was given a decree of divorce from her husband and was awarded the custody of the children with sin a month alimony.

As the parties to the suit left the courtroom they began to argue the case in very loud German, and it was all the Sherif could do to keep them quiet until they got outside the court-room. Kaerth and his wife were evidently tailing each other their respective opinions in no measured terms.

Twenty Men Gone From Galesburg to Supplant Lehigh Strikers.

THE SAME PARTIES WHO SUPPLANTED BUBLINGTON MEN.

The Feeling Against Them Among Labor Circles Very Strong-The Burlington Furnishing Them Transportation and Allowing Leave of Absence-General Situation in the Lehigh Strike.

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 21 .- Some twenty Chicago, Burlington & Quincy engineers left here last night to take the places of strikers on the Lehigh Valley road, Several parties here are employing men for the Lehigh com-pany, and there is alleged to be a large surplus of men on the Burlington, and predic tions are made that many more will go. The Burlington, it is said, furnishes transportation and thirty days leave of absence. Some of those going came here six years ago to place of strikers on the Burlington The feeling against the men who are going is strong in labor circles here.

BLOW UP BOUND HOUSES. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 21.-The greatest excitement was created here by the disclos-ure of an offer by detectives presumably in the employ of the Lehigh Valley Railway, to burn bridges and blow up round houses. The offer was made to the General Griev-Committee in the Bingnam

The detectives gave their names as House. The detectives gave their names as Howard B. Jones and Atkinson. They first sought a private interview with Chief Conductor and Chairman of Grievance Committee Wilkinson. He took them before the entire committee. Stenographer Smith and a reporter named Allen left the room, but listened at the door and took complete notes of the conversation.

Jones said he had been "turned down" by Sweigard & Voorhees of the Lehigh. "We will do anything the committee may ask," said Jones, "from destroying a bridge to biowing up a round-house." Both men were ordered out of the room.

Committeeman Hannihan talked with Jones Saturday. He claimed to have aided in the capacity of detective in defeating Knights of Labor in the Port Richmond and New York Central strikes. Reporter Allen described Jones as a man who in a bribery case recently swore he was in the employ of one of the largest detective agencies in the country. Chairman Wilkinson believes Jones and Atkinson are Pinkerton men. THOUSANDS OF OUTSIDERS AFFECTED.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 27 .- As a result of the big strike on the Lehigh Valley Railroad the big strike on the Lehigh Valley Railroad 27,000 men not employes of the road are to-day out of employment. They are miners and other laborers in the sixty odd coilleries along the line that were compelled to shut down on account of a lack of cars to carry off the coal. This circumstance may cut quite an item in the strike, as 27,000 men are capable of exerting a considerable influence. Each side claims that the circumstance is in its favor, claiming the allegiance of the unemployed workmen.

The largest operators along the road are investigating the strike to see what can be done to settle it and they say they will side with whichever side they find to be right.

ATTITUDE OF THE CENTRAL'S EMPLOYES. NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—The employes of the Central got word last night that an effort would be made to get the Lohigh freight over the Jersey Central lines. They say that if the Central officials attempt to help the Le high they will tie up the road. Eystematic preparations have been made all along the Lehigh Valley road. Empty cars, and in some places coal trains, are left blocking the tracks and the traps are left so as to make a blockade.

DEAD IN HIS CAR.

An Express Messenger on the Ri-Grande Shot in the Heart.

OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 21.—As the Rio Grande & Western train pulled into Ogden at 1 o'clock this morning, Express Messenger Sayers failed to open his car. The door was forced and the messenger was found on the floor dead with a bullet through his heart and a pistol under him. It is supposed that and a pistol under him. It is supposed that he was locking the safe when the pistol was accidentally discharged. His books and money are intact and there is no suspicion of foul play. Sayers lived in Denver. The Coroner's inquest will be held to-day.

Neither of the letters threw any light on the case, but, if anything, increased the mystery of it. One of the letters was from mystery of it. One of the letters was from Rev. A. H. Anthony, a Baptist minister of Pinckneyville. Rev. Anthony, according to his letter, was at the lielay Depot last Saturday night about the time the walfs were discovered in the big valise, and from his own description of his personal appearance, he was probably the well-dressed man who was supposed to have some connection with the case, He reached East St. Louis Saturday evening from Indiana and bought a ticket to Pinckneyville. At the time he was wearing a cape overcoat and a high silk hat. Having read the published accounts containing the description of a man supposed to have left the valise containing the bables at the depot, he came to the conclusion that he was the person described and determined to let the East St. Louis police know of it. In his letter he stated that he had no knowledge of the affair whatever, but as he bought a ticket to Pinckneyville that night, and might, by reason of his personal appearance, be suspected of having some connection with it, he wished to enter a denial without delay. The other letter, a very brief one, was from a citizen of Carlyle, Ill., who stated that he saw a young woman of ordinary appearance on the O. & M. train that evening, and that she had twin hables in her arms. He left that train at Carlyle, Ill., who stated that he twins continued on the way to East St. Louis. Rev. A. H. Anthony, a Baptist minister of

Mr. Bell as spokesman, informed the Vice-President that several papers had announced that the management had determined to make New Franklin, the Parsons, Hannibal, Sadalia and St. Louis Division of the M., K. & T. system, and that all the shops from Sedalia and Parsons would be removed to New Franklin, thereby making that antiquated village one of the largest railroad centers in the State. Other members of the committee proceeded to illustrate the advantage Boonville had over the "village across the river," and asked that the matter be reconsidered. Mr. Purdy listened attentively to the argumonts of the committee for two hours, when he assured the members of the committee that the papers that made such statements did not know what they were talking about. He further stated that no place had been decided upon as an end of a division and that no place hours will be considered until the Bellefontaine bridge is completed. It is rumored in railroad circles that the Attorney-General of Kentucky will shortly institute legal proceedings to prevent the consolidation of the L. & N. and Chesapeake consolidation of the L. & N. and Chesapeake & Obio Southwestern. One of the bestlaw firms in Louisville has been retained by the Attorney-General to assist him preventing the completion of the contract. There is no question but what Mir. Huntington has sold the road gointly to the L. & N. and the Illinois Central, and while the money has not been paid over, it will be just as soon as the contract is drawn up unless the Attorney-General of Kentucky through some technicality prevents the consolidation. If this should be done and the L. & N. give up the fight, it is more than probable that the Chesapeake & Ohio will endeavor to get possession of the road as it could use it to a greater advantage than either the L. & N. or the Illinois Central.

A meeting of the rate clerks of the Eastern committee lines of the Western Passenger Association is being held in Chicago to-day for the purpose of agreeing upon rates from for the purpose of agreeing upon rates from Eastern Committee territory to the additional winter tourist points in Texas authorized by the Texas lines, viz.: Dallas, Ft. TROUBLE WILL FOLLOW.

It Should Be Understood and Looked After Now.

Some Things Which People Cannot Well Explain.

This May Be Absolutely New to the Average Reader.

Many people wonder what it means when there is a tingling or prickling sensation with a more or less numb feeling in the hands, feet or limbs. It means that there is a condition of the nerves which predisposes toward paralysis. If in addition to the above sensations there is a pain in the head, a general bad feeling with !weak, weary or excessively tired feeling in the limbs it may be taken as certain that paralysis will result if some thing is not immediately done to avert this t errible disaster.

All should remember that in such cases It is the neglect of these first symptoms which results in the fatal and dreaded shock of paralysis. If a person will use the right remedy when the above feelings and sensations appear, all danger of a shock can be warded off.

It is a fact that paralysis and kindred nervous diseases are increasing at an alarming rate, thousands about us neglecting to realize what these first symptoms so apparently trivial, really mean unti they become prostrated. An interesting story is told by Mr. G. W. Ryerson, who is a well-known busi-

"In March, 1892," he said, "I had a slight stroke of paralysis of the left side, which was followed in about two weeks by a second attack, which completely

I have the full use of my speech and limbs and work hard every day. I know that this wonderful medicine has saved my life."

Now, the moral of this is, do not neglect yourself. If you are not feeling just right, if you have symptoms and feelings you cannot explain, take at once this wonderful medicine, Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy, and it will very speed-liy put you in good health again. It will always prevent paralysis if taken in time, and is purely vegetable and perfectly harm-

It is indorsed and recommended by physicians as the greatest blood and nerve remedy; indeed, it is the discovery of one of our best known physicians, Dr. Greene of 35 W. 14th Street, New York, the successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. Morofsky, when asked to describe the whipping, said: "I told my wife Sunday morning I would come back for for her, but did not say when. Hearned from the police that I could not have stomke arrested unless she was taken up too. I did not want that, so I came back later in the night to scare stomke. When I pushed in the door and found them together I pulled Stomke out of bed and shook him. Then my wife screamed and brought a crowd into the yard. They thought he was my boy and had been misbehaving and so when I said "Let's spank him a little," they took a hand and touched him up with a strap. I did not threaten to blow his head off after it was over. He was willing to go."

"Who were your five friends?"

"I did not have any friends. It was the people in the yard that did the whipping."

She has promised to come back and be a good woman. Yesterday I went back to Kast St. Louis, where I work, and rented a nice place. I will get my furniture out of storage and fix them up today. To-morrow we will forget about stomke."

Nirs. Morofsky said nothing, but smiled very broadly during her husband's description of the whipping. The trio, after packing their bundles, bade good-by to their friends in the yard and headed for their new home and new life in East St. Louis.

Stomke the Polish Lotharle, visited the home and new life in East St. Louis.

Stomke, the Polish Lotharie, visited the scene of his exeruciating experience just about dusk last evening. He looked tired, as a man is apt to be who has not sat down for twenty-four hours. The object of his devotion had packed his belongings in a sachel, which was left in the store of J. Valliant, so that he should not again come in contact with her husband. Valliant says he moved stimy and wore an air of terrible fright. As he came in the store Valliant was entertaining a reporter of a morning paper. He told Stomke the young man's business and the Pole picked up his satchel and moved out very quickly despite his raw back. The reporter gave chase and caught his man, but not being up in Polish, could not subject him to an interview. All that Valliant could get out or him was that he intended Poling to work on a farm. Stomke speaks neither English nor German.

VALLIANT TRILS THE STORY.

paramour, unloosened his tongue this morning when he found the police were not going to take a hand in the matter and told the whole story leading up to Sunday night's sensational occurrence. "A week ago Friday." said he, "Mrs. Merofsky came to our home and told my wife her husband had deserted her and that she was starving and without shelter. My wife gave her something to eat and when I came home I told her she could have the little room in the back yard. I put a bed in it, got her some wash tubs and a wringer and provided her with everything to make her living by washing. Well, that night, after fixing her up, I saw a man in her room. The next morning I asked her about it and she told me had offered her fix week to let him occupy the room. She said he was a poor Pole and everything would be all right. So I put a separate bed in the room for him, but soon found that everything went wrong. Sunday morning Morof-sky came to the store and lupbraided him for deserting his wife. Then he told me he whole story. How she had brought the man stomke into their home as a boarder and how he had stolen her away from him. Morofsky discovered their guilty relations by pretending drunkenness one night on returning from work. He fell on the sofa in a supposed drunken attupor, and by so doing surprised stomke and his wife in guilty relations. The next morning he took his money away from her. She had $260. He left her $10 to pay a coal bill and so doing surprised stomke and his wife in guilty relations. The next morning he took his money away from her. She had $260. He left her $10 to pay a coal bill and went off to work. When he returned in the evening the pair were gone. Ithen told him about his wife being in the back yard and called her in. He had little to say, but she was frantic in her expressions of sorrow. She went down on her knees and kissed his hands and feet and clung to him, asking him to take her back. He was not inclined to at first, but went out to her room and had a long talk with her. After it was over they are supper with us and Morofsky left, saying he might come back and get her. He came sooner than we expected. The whipping occurred justas described in last night's Post-Disparch. All Clark arenue was in the yard. The whip used was like a Russian knout. When my wife gave Stomke his trousers I was standing nea-him and saw his underclottes spotted with blood. He is a big, strong fellow, or the whipping might have killed him."

THE WHITE CAPPERS. "Did the neighbors take a hand in the whipping?" "No. The men came with Mo spoke to one of them and asked him if he was afraid of the police. 'No. I'm a blacksm and make my $4 or $5 a day. I can get out of and make my $4 or $5 a day. I can get out of this easy. Why, Morofsky handed me $800 in cash to bail them out if they were arrested. The young blacksmith told me wny they took a hand.

"When Stomke first came to St. Louis he boarded in a little Polish settlement down on Soulard street. After a jear the 16-year-old daughter of his landlady gave birth to a child. Stomke skipped out. Morofsky's companions were stomke's old neighbors, and they had an old score to settle with him. Whether the story is true or not 1 don't know, but the blacksmith said that was why he took a hand in the whipping."

"Why did Morofsky want the woman back?"

"Why did Moroisty wan, back?"
"He belongs to a very fine family in the old country. His grandfather was Mayor and his father Prefect of Police in the town in Little Poland where he comes from. He was afraid he would be disgraced in their eyes if they learned his wife was living with another man. He told me Sunday that was the only reason why he wanted her back."

with questions from hundreds of people inrepresentative of the early discoverers of America. He has, therefore, consented to tell his interesting story on Friday evening and Saturday attention at Entertainment Hall, illustrating his talk with a large number of stereopticon pictures of the ancient Norse vessel found in the sea drift in Norway and of its now famous modern representative. Many of these pictures are "snap shots" taken during the vessel's dangerous trip across the ocean.

The Grand Avenue Track Dispute The hearing of arguments on the excep tions of the People's Railway Co. to commission ers' report in the matter of the Grand Avenue Railway Co, was set for Nov. 2f. Some time ago commissioners were appointed to fix the compensation to be paid by the Grand Avenue Railroad Co, to the People's Railway Co. for the use of its tracks from Lafayette avenue to a point opposite the entrance of Tower Grove Park. The commissioners allowed $1,50 as a fair compensation, to be paid semi-annually from the time connections are made.

The People's Railway Co. filed exceptions to this report, stating that the sum should not be less than $5,000, when it was considered what the damage would be to the conduit, the loss of traffic and inconvenience of additional switches on the tracks.

VACCINATION IN FACTORIES. The Health Department Considers It

Necessary Precaution. Health Commissioner Homan, in conjunc tion with Dr. Warren G. Priest, Chief Dis-pensary Physician, is preparing a large business establish pensary Physician, is preparing a list of large business establishments of the city to which the vaccine physicians of the Board of Health will make visits and vaccinate all persons there so desiring it. Circular letters will be sent to the heads of all these houses showing the importance of the measure from a sanitary standpoint and asking for cooperation. Small-pox is prevalent at present in several small towns in Illinois. It is possible that it may be brought to St. Louis any day, when a general scare would follow and there would be a wild rush from all parts of the city and from all classes for vaccination.

It was to anticipate such a contingency that Dr. Priest suggested to the Health Commissioner the propriety of the present movement.

Statistics have indubitably proven the salutary effects of vaccination as a preventive of small-pox, and the authorities of the Health Department think it the duty or all employers having large numbers of men, women and children in their establishments to impress upon them the advisability and almost necessity of taking this sprecautionary measure at times when good health prevails. The Board of Health of St. Louis receives its supply of virus from a vaccine farm daily or as it may be ordered. This supply has always been considered of first class quality and has been used with success for many years.

The work of vaccinating the pupils of the public and parochial schools has hearly been completed.

Arrangements will be made for the vaccine physicians to call at such time and hours as the heads of the houser request. There will be no interference with the regular business discipline of the establishment and by pursuing a systematic course the employes of all large business establishments who desire to use the advantages of this system can materially aid the Health Department by sending a request for a visit at once.

SISTER DOMINICA DEPOSED.

The Action Followed a Failure to Obey Superior's Orders.

BURLINGTON, Io., Nov. 21.—Sister Dom the Superioress of the St. Francis Hospital in this city, has been deposed from her sition by her Mother Superior oria, and a new community f the mother house, under a new superiorses, has been sent to take her place. Sister Dominica and eight other sisters wearing the brown garb of the Third Order of St. Francis are practically homeless.

They have virtually severed their connection with the order and are living in the house of a friend.

The cause of the trouble dates back to last summer. Sister Dominica, who has had charge of St. Francis' Hospital for the past five years, was ordered in July by the Mother Superior to go to Bloomington, Ill. On the advice of the local staff of physicians on service at the hospital the Catholic priests of Burlington and Bishop Cosgrove of Davenport she refused.

Bishop Cosgrove promised her he would allow no outside interference in his diocese, the priests and doctors agreed to stand by her, a local organization of ladies assisting in the hospital work promised to assist her and, with eight of her subordinates, she practically defied the head of the order in Peoria.

Aleading physician went to see the Mother Superior with a petition signed by every physician in the city, every priest in the city, and many citizens, but the lady refused to consider it. She paid no attention to the letters of the Bishop, and announced her intention of running her business as it pleased her.

Last Thursday nine sisters arrived here he mother house, under a new superioress, has been sent to take her place. Sister leased her. Last Thursday nine sisters arrived here capled.

There is some talk of starting a new hospital with the deposed sisters in control, but nothing definite has been done. In the meantime the Mother Superior is mistress of the situation.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with ress expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellensa is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all draggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

NOT BURIED YET.

Some of the Eastern Democratic paper are now busily engaged in burying the Populist party and preaching its funeral. They are convinced that it is dead that it will appear no more to disturb political calculations and that the votes it polled in 1892 will her seforth be divided between the two old parties, a majority of them probably going to the yet tell on the black man. It is thought Democrats.

The only reason assigned for this premature burial ceremony is the fact that the Populists polled fewer votes in 1893 than they did in 1892. So did the Republicans and so did the Democrats, even in the States they respectively carried this year. If the late elections show anything, they show a great increase of that popular disgust with both of the old parties which enabled the hopeless, cranky and fatuously directed Populist movement to poll such a surprising vote in 1892. The discontent of farmers and wage earn ers with glutted markets, falling prices and increasing tax burdens is increasing all over the West and South. The patience with which the masses have waited for the party in power to redeem its pledges and improve the situation is about exhausted. and the hones that sustained it are fading fast as the relations between the President and a majority of his party in Congress ecome daily more strained.

Mr. Cleveland's refusing to call the exra session till the panie drove him to it; the needless conflicts in which his party was involved in that extra session by his own big-headedness and want of tact; his remarkable civil service reform ideas. illustrated by keeping offensively partisan Republicans in office and giving notice that no alleged Democrats need apply unless their appointment should demanded by some corporation or trust that had contributed to the campaign fund, as in the case of Olney, or unless they had themselves preempted appointments by such contributions, as had millionaires Van Alen and Roosevelt-all this has put a dangerously mutinous feeling into the hearts of multitudes of rural Democratic voters throughout the West and South. And there is no

At a full meeting of the Executive Committee of the National Civil Service Reform League the other day, Carl Schurz presiding, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

The National Civil Service Reform League through its executive committee, expresses its earnest remonstrance against the be-stowal by the President of high offices of state in return for the contribution of large campaign funds. It must regard any apcointment made on account of such contriution as a disregard of the trust cot upon the chief executive, as a violation of the professions upon which the present Adninistration came into power, and as an exstruction of all free institutions. The league, through this committee, de-lares its opinion that appointments should ot be given to such contributors, and pro parted from this rule.

Only fourteen of the 514 blacks attacked by yellow fever at Brunswick, Ga., have died and attention has been again called to the fact that the negroes survive where the whites perish.

Many blacks who were slaves have lived to a great age, and emarkable cases of negro longevity are requently reported.

Perhaps the negro's greatest aid to nealth and long life is his happy disposiion. As he progresses and follows in the footsteps of the whites he may lose some thing of this. As he comes to have more of the anxieties and ambitions of white men his cheerfulness may disappear. A Plea for Woman

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: Your paper has been a friend of woman ever. It has fought her fight and shared her triumphs. But there is yet another battle ore it—yet greater laurels for its crown. I am married. Like other marrie

I am married. Like other married ladles, I have a husband. Not that he is a greater sinner than most husbands of I write this letter, this earnest appeal, but because he is like other husbands. Did I not read Dr. Holland's lecture in which he says society does not recognize the plaints of the individual. I give voice here to the plaint of all mankind. You are doubtless a married man. I can think of you as nothing else. Happily married I make bold to believe. Then you will be with me for the sake of your wife. Don't tell me she has not suffered. Your intentions may have been good. Doubtless they were. So were my husband's. But I go by result. I was reading in Sunday's Post-Disparch about the powers of thought transference of Prof Laruge, the hypnotist, He says he has taught his science to others. Here is your chance. Hire Prof. Laruge and hire Pickwick Theater and give every lady reader of the Post-Disparch a coupon ticket entitling her to attend Prof. Laruge's lectures or classes. What every woman in St. Louis wants to do is to get so she can transfer a thought from her home to her husband's office or wherever he may be and make him think to mail that letter he has carried in his pocket ever since it was given to him last Friday, or to stop in, the has carried in his pocket ever since it is given to him last Friday or to stop in store and order the groceries of dry goods solemnly promises to order on his way do townland forgets about the moment he cross solemny in the moment as a continuous solution and forgets about the moming. ONE FOR ALL.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
About a week ago I read in the columns of a morning daily of this city, that the Mayor had ordered all "permits to carry concealed weapons" revoked. His honor the Mayor stated as his reason for so doing that the statute relating to the carrying, of weapons permitted all persons to carry concealed weapons who might use them to defend and protect their life or property.

Now I should like your opinion on the following case: We residents of the South Side have of late been subjected to many "hold ups" and scares, and we are never certain but that we might be robbed at any time. Now, then, for instance, I go out of an evening. I have about my person a good gold watch, a gold scarf pin, gold studs, cuff and collar buttons and ring. Besides I carry several more or less valuable accessories to a man's comfort, such as match, box (silver), toothpick case (silver), knife (silver-handled), cigar-cutter, pencil-holder, etc. Although the things represent no very great intrinsic value. Mayor had ordered all "permits to carry cigar cutter, pencil-holder, etc. Although the things represent no very great intrinsic value, many are most dear to me as mementoes and keepsakes. I furthermore always carry at least $10 in bills and $30 f $4 in change. Am I under these circumstances acting according to lawif I carry a concealed weapon to protect the above named property? Please oblige me by answering this as soon as possible, as I and many others may have occasion to use weapons any evening. Would you also please say whether I am allowed to carry weapons on board a train.

Drivers Protest.

To the Editor of the Post - Dispatch: Be kind enough to insert a few lines in your valuable paper concerning a grievance of urs. How is it that the city pays the street sprinkling bosses % a day for the use of each one of their teams daily, and the bosses, crying hard times, notify us at our last Saturday's pay that after Nov. 20, 1893, 15 per cent discount will be made from our pay each week? Would you be kind enough to inquire if they did the same with their clerks and bookkeepers? I guess not. This is another daylight robbery. As the present times are very dull and work scarce, we admit that with firms having no connection with city contracts it was advisable to reduce the men's salaries and keep them at work, but our bosses receive the sum of % per day, more than they received on their contract price of last summer, and still they cry hard times, when they are not losing a cent, but still insist on robbing to 9 is per cent of our paitry $9 a week that we receive. We can prove sprinkling bosses $5 a day for the use of each notifying the Post-Dispatch we will near what the bosses have to say. We can prove that the clerks' and bookkeepers' salaries DRIVERS. were not touched.

Too Much Holiday.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch: The articles in your paper on what day we ought to rest make what Mr. Ward used to call mighty interesting reading, but it seems to me, when I take a birdseye view of the state of things in this, the grandest country on the globe at the present time, the question what ought to be uppermost is how to give men less Sabbaths and more work, his husband says they have tried the eight-hour law and find it a failure for the simple reason that the men do as much work or more in eight than used to be done in ten hours. Only the other day he came home and said to me: "I am a pretty fair plumber and i fought hard for the eight-hour law, but at this season, year in and year out, I find myself and the rest of de gang walking the streets." He said he was a God-fearing man, but if the old boy wanted to make a haul let him bait his net with lots of work for the Sabbath—in fact it would be a board-sweeper in all kinds of business.

"Presently half a tumbler of the preparation was brought and submitted to me for examination. I could hardly believe my senses. I looked like water, it tasted like water, it was water and nothing else.
"What does this mean?" I demanded angrily.

"What does this mean?" I demanded angrily.
"That's the stuff you ordered, sir,' replied the father, confidently. 'I made it myself, according to your own directions—boiled the bottle of beef just as you said. But I must confess that I thought it was a pretty weak kind of broth for a sick boy."
"I stared at him for a minute or two in wonder. Then a light began to dawn on me. I susped and said:
"Bring me the bottle." 'He did so. Its contents had evidently not been disturbed. I poured from it a table-spoonful of thick and nourishing faild and administered it to the patient.
"The father looked on as if awe struck." 'Why, said he, you never told me that! You said to cork up the bottle, but you did not tell me to uncork it. So I thought that you meant I should give him the water it was boiled in." "So that was what my patient had been fed on for twenty-four hours—boiled water and nothing more. No wondersthat. I found hut it was a parrow squest, I assure you."

At this time his failure was predicted and he was laughed at. In twelve years he has played in every city in the country. The critics have from time to time roasted him, but his interpretation of Shakspearean character has pleased the public and he has succeeded. There has been a steady improvement in Mr. Keene's work from the day he first essayed to rival Booth and Barrett, until now one can scarcely believe that it is the same man who ten years was unable to gain admittance to a metropolitan theater. The interest in Mr. Keene's engagement this year will center about Miss Rockwell has had but two months' experience upon the stage. The part does not permit of any very serious effort upon the part of Miss Rockwell and her acting last night cannot be accepted as a fair test of her ability. What defects Miss Rockwell has are due to lack of experience and youth. Her voice which is sweet, is not yet strong enough for the roles she has been playing; yet the same deficiency has been ursed against Julia Mariowe. Her conception of character is good, her enunciation is perfect and with time will come finish and strength. St. Louis has reason to be proud of her and will undoubtedly have more. The matter was immediately reterred to the War Department, and Gen. Wheaton, commanding the Department of Texas, was telegraphed to take steps to prevent them from crossing. He replied that he had sent Maj. Hinton to San Elizario with one company of infantry in wagons and that a troop of thirty cavalrymen had also left for the same point from another part, but no trace or the band could be found. The residents there informed the organization. It appears, however, from later information that the troops were misled. The Mexican Minister called at the State Department again to-day and informed the Secretary that he had received advices that another band of stry-five men had crossed near El Paso. He also complained that the Texas authorities had taken no steps to prevent the violation of the neutrality law, although they had information of the fact that the band was organized. This information has been telegraphed to Gen. Wheaton, and it is probable that he will at once take steps to patrol the frontier and put a stop to any further violations of the law. MISSING DR. FRAKER

Insurance Companies Claim That He Is Still Alive.

WHAT AN IN-ZSTIGATION OF THE CASE HAS REVEALED.

He Was Supposed to Bave Been Drowned in the Missouri River Last July-The Story His Companions Told -He Carried Many Policies - Queer Provisions in His Will.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 21.—The myster which veils the disappearance of Dr. F. W. Fraker of Excelsior Springs may be solved. Dr. Fraker was reported drowned in the Missouri River on the night of July 10, 1898. He carried a life insurance policy for $10,000 in the Equitable Co. of New York, besides heavy claims in other companies and varificiary associations. Dr. John Camp bell of Cincinnati, agent for the Equitable, is in the city and claims that his company has ivestigated Fraker's alleged death and has ed evidence which shows that he is nov alive. They will contest the claim of his heirs and refuse to pay the insurance. The other companies and societies in which Dr. Fraker held policies of insurance and the amount of each are: Hartford Lite and Annuity Co., $12,000; Providence Mutual, New-nuity Co., $12,000; Providence Mutual, Newport, $10,000; Kansas Mutual, Topeka, $10,000; Accident Co., $5,000; Modern Woodmen. $3,000; Knights of Pythias, $3,000; A. O. U.W., $2,000; making in all $55,000.

By Dr. Fraker's will Judge J. E. Lincoln of Liberty was made the executor of the estate. The first clause provided that the body of the testator shall not be buried, but burned; and for the expenses of such cremation the executor was ordered to set aside such a sum of money as may be necessary. By a second provision $5,000 was given to each of two sisters. All the remainder of the estate, amounting to $55,000, was left in trust to a brother-in-law named McDonald, who lives in Macon City, Mo.

to a brother-in-law named McDonald, who lives in Macon City, Mo.

The proceeds of this trust fund are to be devoted to the education and support of five orphun and minor children who are cousins to the testator. McGruder was expressly released from the necessity of filing a bond.

The theory that Dr. Fraker was drowned in the Missourl River on the night of July 10 rests upon the story told by six men who were his companions on a fishing excursion at the time mentioned. These men are John McMurray, a teamster; Charles McGregor, a laborer, both of this city; J. T. Triplett of Oklahoma, George Harrie of New Mexico, Alberto Mendes, a Spaniard, and "Uncle' Jake Crowley, an old negro. They are witnesses of his fall or plunge from the bank of he Missouri.

Alberto Mendes, a paniard, and Jake Crowley, an old negro. They are witnesses of his fall or plunge from the bank of he Missouri.

The men who were at his side say they saw him fall forward with the crumbling river bank. He made no outery. His white face showed only once and for an instant against the black, swirling water. Then the river swept him away into the night, Another man lifted his tin lantern high above his head as he heard the cry of dismay set up by his distant comrades, and by its dim light made out, floating on the surface of the water, a hat like that worn by Dr. Fraker, One odd feature of the case is the fact the party which Dr Fraker invited to accompany him on the fishing excursion was made up of a Spaniard, an old negro "uncle," a man from New Mexico, another from Oklahoma and two effizens from Excelsior Springs, one of whom drove the wagon which carried the fishermen out to the lonely spot which became the scene of the tragedy. Triplett and Harrie, two of the party, formerly lived in Triplett, Mo., and they claim to have known Dr. Fraker there, when he was a boy. Mendes, the Spaniard, is a friend of Harrie and accompanied him on his present visit to his old home in Missouri. "Jake" Crowley is an old negro servant, who, it appears, was taken along to act as cook for the party.

In the investigation which followed the Crowley is an old negro servant, who, it appears, was taken along to act as cook for the party.

In the investigation which followed the drowning or disappearance of Dr. Fraker, these men made statements which coincided in all important particulars. They said that with Dr. Fraker in unusual good humor they left Excelsior springs in a wagon drawn by a double team and driven by McMurray. Driving ten miles through the woods they came at last to a spot on the bank of the Missourinear Camden, where Dr. Fraker said he knew there was good fishing. Luck was indifferent, and about 9 o'clock in the evening they decided to start home. It had grown very dark and the woods were thick, McMurray hitched up his team and sat in the wagon awailing on the roadway, a hundred yards from the river bank. There was only one old tin lantern in the party. McGregor lighted it and started down to the edge of the water to look at some set lines he had left there. With him went Mendes, the Spaniard. Dr. Fraker, Harrie, Triplett and 'Uncle' Jake started up the bank in another direction. It was very dark and they had to pick their way.

direction. It was very dark and they had to plok their way.

They had got about 800 feet away when there came a wild cry from Harrie. The Doctor's in theiriver, 'The shouted. Harrie says he saw the bank give way with the physician, but Dr. Fraker did not cry for help. He uttered not a sound. The three men, terribly excited, pressed close to the edge of the steep and crumbling bank. For the instant they thought of nothing to help the drowning man. Peering out into the darkness, they saw his pale face rise just once to the surface of the water. Then it vanished. BicGregor and Mendes came running, the former holding the fickering instern high out over the river. By it he thinks he saw the other of the surface of the water. Then it vanished. BicGregor and Mendes came running, the former holding the fickering instern high out over the river. By it he thinks he saw the other of the water. The men say they felt it useless to attempt to find the body of Dr. Fraker. They drove, instend, back to Excelsior Springs, and the morning of July 11 the various lodges to which the doctor belonged were notified of his death. At once a party was organized to search for the body. Six men, armed with grappling irons, started for the scene. All day and the next night they persistently kept at their work, rowing their boats up and down the river for miles. They inspected, also, carefully the banks on both sides the stream, but got nowhere the slightest clew to the missing man. Then, tired out, they left guards to watch for some sign of the body and came back home to report their failure.

Diamond Display at the frid's Fair How to Obtain the Very Best at Mod-

In his address on Saturday on the "Tri-umpha of St. Louis and Missouri at the World's Fair," Executive Commissioner Gwynn called attention to the fact that the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Co. capt-ured seven highest awards, including a special award for the most artistic display and another for diamonds. Among his hearers were several who did not visit the World's Fair, and who in consequence falled to see the beautiful St. Louis Pavil-ion and the exquisite grems it contained. ion and the exquisite gems it contained. The omission is not fatal, because the

The omission is not fatal, because the treasures in art have been returned to their home on Broadway, at the corner of Locust street. Here the magnificent diamond display can be seen arranged exactly as in the enormous building on the shores of Lake Michigan. Connoisseurs from all parts of the country have inspected it, and every one agrees that the judges of awards showed excellent taste when they singled out the diamond exhibit of the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Co. for special honors.

The finger rings in this exhibit are deserving of more than a passing notice, because they make up the choleest collection of rings ever seen in this or any other country. Every fashionable style is represented, with the very newest types and designs in each. The Marquise, the Duchesse and the cluster are present in many forms, set with diamonds, emeralds, rubles, sapphires and opals, and each respleadent in its beauty. No more delightful wedding or Christmas present than one of these could be obtained, and the price of every article in the display is so moderate that a purchase commends itself as a safe and pleasing investment.

SOLID SILVERWARES.

A Sale Which Presents Opportunities Seldom to Be Met With.

The solid silverwares offered by the Mermod & Jaccard Jewelry Co. at exceptionally low prices are perfect in every detail. There is nothing cheap about them except the price, and the only wonder is how articles in this grade can be sold at figures so much below what is usually paid. The house offering these goods has made this manufacture a specialty, and by so doing has made it possible to give its customers the benefit of greatly reduced cost of construction. No other house in America could attempt to duplicate these prices for articles of even approximately the same grade of excellence, and hence the magnitude of the shipping orders executed daily. Silverwares for Christmas presents should be purchased immediately, in order to allow ample time for engraving.

IT CAME TOO LATE.

Blount's Report Fully Anticipated by the Newspapers.

POSSIBLE CONSEQUENCE OF ITS UNAU-THORIZED PUBLICATION.

Relations Between the President and His Premier May Be Less Cordial-The Administration Hopeful That Willis Has Obeyed His Instructions-Ex-President Harrison Silent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21 .- The publication of the Blount report, as officially given out by the State Department, adds really nothing of importance or public interest to the controversy. It had been completely discounted by the newspapers. It is hinted that a breach between the President and Secretary Gresham may grow out was permitted in some mysterious way to find its way into the possession of certain newspapers, thus compelling the to authorize its publication the fact that Mr. Cleveland nined that it should not be given ss in advance of its reception by > is still as much mystery as ever the precise instructions given to Min Willis and the same speculation what he has in the settlement of the relations of this Government with the Hawaiian Provisional Republic. The State Department officials maintain a strict reticence regarding supplemental instructions to Minister Willis. They will not admit—indeed, even deny—that any instructions have gone out by the steamer which sailed Saturday from San Francisco. Diplomacy doubtless justifies them in making such denials, but it can hardly be presumed that that steamer would be allow ctions to Minister Willis in view of the maturely, perhaps, aware of the intention of That Minister Willis has delayed the announcement of this Government's decision is regarded in no other light than that he has found it dangerous to proceed with the in structions he had received without waiting for the supplemental directions to utilize force in carrying out the programme. The delay is considered equivalent to an announcement that the provisional government is stronger from a military sense than was anticipated.

For his diplomacy in keeping from the Provisional Government and the people of the islands the ultimatum of this Government sinister Willis is being commended by many. It is a question now as to how much longer he can maintain this silence. Were he aware that Secretary Gresham's letter had been published in this country he would have doubtless broken the news could have doubtless broken the news country to the country he would have doubtless broken the president's his true fact that he had not made a nove toward carrying out the President's instructions at the time of the sailing of the Australia undoubtedly means that he had not found the conditions favorable up to that time. That not an inkling of his instructions had leaked out is really surprising to even those who had cautioned him to exercise great care in his communications with the two parties in Hawali.

GET

Will he break the news before the steamer Winona arrives at Honolulu? No one here can say, but upon her arrival there the crisis must be reached. It is earnestly hoped by members of the administration that Minister Willis will act before the steamer arrives.

must be reached. It is earnestly hoped by members of the administration that Minister Willis will act before the steamer arrives, for they realize that if the move is made while the people of the islands are in total ignorance of the words of encouragement which will go out to the provisional government by its agent here there will be far less danger of bloodshed in accomplishing the desired end.

Senator Dolph, member of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, who has read with considerable care the report of Commissioner Blount, says that the report reads very much as if it was prepared by a man that was sent to the islands for a certain purpose and that purpose was to show that what had been done was wrong. He did not think the Administration had been strengthened by the present action in Mr. Blount's report, but the more carefully it was considered the more apparent it would be that Mr. Blount was sent to the islands to report against the action of Minister Stevens and the provisional Government. Senator Dolph ears it is nerhand that that that that the provisional Government.

sent to the islands to report against the action of Minister Stevens and the provisional Government. Senator Dolph says it is perhaps true that our Minister acted somewhat hastily, but it is not shown that the revolution would not have occurred or the Queen have been dethroned. Nor had it been proven that had there been established a government, recognized by this government, that this government had any right to overthrow it and re-establish the old or new government.

The Senator added that there was not so much interest in Mr. Blount's report, but that the most important document, and what all would like to see, is that containing the instructions to Minister Willis.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 21 .- Ex-President Harrison was asked for his opinion on Comnissioner Blount's report on the Hawaiian ffair as published to-day. He said: "I have nothing to say. My work has been done and nothing to say. My work has been done and I have nothing to regret or deprecate in my connection with the affair, and nothing to say concerning the deeds of others."

It was suggested to the ex-President that the Blount report is generally deemed a severe reflection on the action of Minister Stevens, but he replied: "Well, I have no opinion to express. It I should consent to an interview it would be a very exhaustive and complete one, and that I do not intend to do. I have made up my mind that I will not talk and I am not going to. The Hawailan affair is amply able to take care of itself."

THE BRITISH NAVY.

Lord Charles Beresford's Ideas as to Its Future Strength.

LONDON, NOV. 21 .- Following is an advance resume of the British naval programme, drafted by Lord Charles Beresford, formerly Junior Lord of the Admiralty, and who was the principal author of the last programme. Lord Beresford commences by declaring that the navy of Great Britain must be a third the navy of Great Britain must be a third stronger than any of the combined fleets of her two possible enemies, France and Russia. He proposes the expenditure of £22,000,000 for the construction of six ironclads of the royal sovereign class, twelve battleships of the barrieur class, ten cruisers of the Blake class, fity vessels of the Havock class, designed especially to destroy the enemy's torpedo stations. Half a million pounds should be expended for a reserve ammunition supply, similar to that maintained by the French Government at Toulon, and £648,000 should be used for the strengthening of the moles of gibraltar.

A RECEIVER.

Western Union Building Association Shareholders Successful.

JUDGE VALLIANT APPOINTS THE HON. GEORGE A. CASTLEMAN.

The Appointment Does Not Necessarily Mean That the Association Is To Be the Result of the Receiver's Investi-

Judge Valliant to-day appointed a receiver for the Western Union Building and Loan Associations, which Mr. Milo T. Bogard succeeded in getting into such a snarl that the whole business nearly went to smash. Several weeks ago some of the shareolders applied for a receiver for the associ tions so that their condition might be ascer tained. Quite a hot fight was made against this by Kerr & Webb for the association while Pollock & Dalton kept on piling in affidavits showing that it was almost impossible to find out anything about the condition of the business or what was going on. Judge Valliant handed down a written decision on the subject this morning, appointing Hon. Geo. A. Castleman receiver. The decision covers the situation fully. Judge Valliant says:
In arriving at the conclusion that a receiver rought to be appointed to take charge of the affairs of this corporation, for the present at least, I have not decided that the confictor as to require it to case going and be wound up.
That is in such a condition as to require it to case going and be wound up.
That is a question in this ease, but it is not yet decided. The appointment of the condition as to require it to condition in the serial property of the condition of the condition of the condition and if it is found to be worshy of confidence turn it back into the hands of a Board of Directors, to be selected by the stockholders under the direction of the court. A building association is of such anature that is depends for its prosperity and even its existence on the conditione of the stockholders in its management. Even if its business is in point of fact well managed, and it is management. Even if its business is in point of fact well managed with the court of the confidence cannot be decided from the meager facts in evidence before the course; a receiver can law whole case bare, not only before this court, but also before the stockholders themselves, and if after such investigation theorems of the stockholders can be preserved.

Since this application for the appointment of receiver has been pending, several names have been to find out anything about condition of the business ray the interests of the stockholders can be preserved.

Since this application for the appointment of a receivor has been pending, several names have been suggested to us as suitable receivers; some of them are gentlemen interested in the management of other building associations expalse and experienced in such business. Other names suggested are those of gentlemen who are or have been connected with the management of this association. If the object in appointing a receiver was to wind up the business as of a defenct corporation, either one of the gentlemen named would make an excellent receiver, but for the purpose for which a receiver in this tase is a elected primarily he ought not be management of any other building association or connected with the present or past management of this owner.

The receiver will probably qualify to-day, and take hold of affairs immediately, and make his first report within a few days.

The White House cook book is beautifully bound in indestructible white enameled cloth covers stamped with silver designs. It is admirably adapted to the purpose for which it is intended. Continued ase in the callinary department does not impair its beauty. If soiled it can be washed off and made to appear as bright as new. Toilet and household receipts, menus, dinner-giving table etiquette and care of the sick are made specially attractive features, the whole comprising a comprehensive encyclopedia of information for the home. No work of the kind yet published more fully meets the everyday wants of the housewife. It is the young housekeeper's friend and the matron's delight.

Portraits of the notable women who have graced the White House are interspersed throughout the book. Among these are excellent likenesses of Mrs. Francis Folsom Cleveland and Mrs. Carrie Scott Harrison.

Subscribers of the Post-Disparch who fail to take advantage of the liberal offer will miss a rare opportunity to make a valuable and cheap addition to their household literature.

The Sociology and Political Economy Departments Very Etrong. Librarian Crunden of the Public Library says that large addition being made to the sociology and political economy departments, because these studies are being diligently pursued by several clubs in this city. economy departments, because these studies are being dilligently pursued by several clubs in this city.

Mr. Crunden says that the library is very strong in these fields of learning. A Mr. Ehrenpreiss, a Socialistic candidate for the mayoralty of Chicago, at the last election, examined the two departments of the library a few days ago and declared that they were more complete than the same departments in the great Chicago library. The more recent additions to the works on sociology are Tuckley's "Masses and Classes," and Rissing's "Odd Women," a novel. Both are English books. "The Empire Australia of the Crars and Russians," by Leroy-Beaulieu, has lately been piaced on the shelves of the Public Library. Mr. Orunden pronounces it the best work on Russia extant. It has been translated by an American.

WILL PROBABLY INCORPORATE. The Organization Having the Forest Parl

Museum in Charge. The promoters of the Forest Park Museu project are sanguine that their hopes will be realized at no distant day. The express belief of Mr. E. C.

belief of Mr. E. C. Simmons, a member of the Incorporating Committee, that the association will be incorporated shortly is an assurance of the launching of the enterprise in the near ruture. Froi. Sylvester Waterhouse of the Mashington University, speaking of the plan to have a public musum in Forest Park, said:

"The cordial reception which the plan to found a public museum has met must be highly gratifying to every friend of the project. The popularity of the enterprise is based upon a recognition of its usefulness. No word of dissent has been uttered. Every allusion to the scheme has been the heartlest approval. If, at the outset, a plan comprehensive enough to provide for all the wants of future development is adopted, the initial outlay need not be large. Wings could be added whenever the demand for more spacious accommodations required their erection. Thousands of our citizens have visited the White City. They have been deeply impressed not only by the splendors, but also by the splendors, but also by the splendors of that marvelous Exposition. They are aware that, though the University of Chicago is less than four months old, the value of its properties is now about $5,000,000, and that the museum which is to be established in Jackson Park has already received an absolute gift of $100,000 and an one of $1,000,000 under conditions with which the stockholders of the Exposition will probably comply. A knowledge of these facts causes our citizens vividly to realize that unless $t. Louis bestirs itself, it will be ingloriously beate in all the higher competitions of civic progress. It seems highly important to utilize the opportunities which these fresh and favorable impressions present.

Louis.

IRISH PARLIAMENTARIANS.

Their Meeting Yesterday Did Much to Restore Harmony.

LONDON, NOV. 21.-The meeting of the Irisi Parliamentary party yesterday in the com Parliamentary party yesterday in the committee-room of the House of Commons is said to have done much to restore harmony in the party, though the proceedings were protracted and lively. The compact with the Parnellites, by which a portion of the Paris fund will be handed to Mr. John Bedmond when released, istangrily criticised, Mr. Healey's father-in-law, Mr. Sullivan, seconded one of the peacemaking resolutions, all of which were unanimously passed.

in her Ninth and Olive streets, at 10 o'clock this morning to remain in session two days. The attendance was very fair. Members of the encampment who were absent this morning are expected to arrive on the night trains. B. M. Dilley. Grand Pariarch, who is employed in the land office at Oklahoma City, sent word that it would be impossible for him to be present at this session. The time was occupied this morning in the consideration of old business. In their annual report Grand Representatives J. B. Jewell and R. H. Maybury state that the condition of the order is such as to call for devout thanksgiving upon the part of every loyal Old Fellow. It is stated that the net increase in the membership during 1892 was over 50,000, unprecedented in the history of the order. So far as can be learned the increase this year is still greater than in 1892, the total membership to-day, including the sisters in the Rebeach branch being estimated at over 900,000.
Odd Fellowship is in existence in Europe and Asia, but its greatest strength is attained in the United States and Canada.

The annual report of Grand Patriarch B. M. Dilley was in the hands of Grand Scribe E. M. Sloan, and was duly presented to the Grand Encampment.

HIS CLIENT'S WATCH. Attorney Jeff Storts & coused of Respins

It Without Any Claim to It. P. P. Ferguson of Evansville, Ind., applied Four Courts attorney. Ferguson came to St.
Louis some months ago to attend a medical college. While here he was arrested for carrying concealed weapons. He engaged storts to defend him and, having no money with him, alleges he gave his gold watch, valued at from $60 to $75, as security until he could get the money.
Storts was to get $10 for defending him, Ferguson avers. When Ferguson got the money he paid Storts, who, he states, charged him $2 extra for the storage of the watch. Ferguson states that he also paid this, but that Storts has failed to return the watch. Ferguson returned home and came back to St. Louis to fry to get his watch.
He says he has learned that Storts has pawned the watch. Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Estep told Ferguson that he would see Storts and that if he did not give up the watch that he would issue a warrant. Four Courts attorney. Ferguson came to St.

TEN GUINEAS A MINUTE.

An English Surgeon Wires His Claim for a Big Foo.

From the London Telegraph. The forty-sixth annual session of the grand Wednesday Judge Bacon tried the case of ncampment of the I. O. O. F. convened in Browne vs. Earl of Annesiey, which was a by Dr. Leonard Browne, for an operation performed by him on Lord Glerawiey, the defendant's son. It appears that Lord Glerawley suffered from stammering.

Glerawley suffered from stammering. He was under the treatment of a Mrs. Baker, who recommended that Dr. Browne should be consulted.

Lord Annesley took Lord Glerawley to the plaintiff, who put him under chioroform, for that 2 guiness was asked, and for the operation which followed a medium fee of 80 guineas was charged.

Plaintiff said he was a recognized authority on matters of this kind, and had received as much as 80 guineas for similar operations. In cross-examination Dr. Jennox Browne said that he never promised that Lord Glerawley would be cured of stammering by the operation. Dr. Coilier and other surgeons gave evidence as to the reasonableness of the charges.

The defense was that it was understood that the operation would cure Lord Glerawley of stammering. It had not done so. Lord Annesley paid the 1 guineas for an assistant and 10 guineas for the plaintiff, which brought the claim down to 18 guineas. Sir Edward Clark said he would charge 10 to 18 guineas for such an operation.

His honor said the evidence was entirely against the defendant. Plaintiff had said the operation took him three minutes, but 80 guineas was his charge. He must have a verdict for 18 guineas, with cost.

15,000 cubic yards. The dredge is 135 feet long and about 30 feet wide, and nearly every foot of it is covered with machinery. There are six engines aboard of her. One triple expansion engine of 350-horse-power sucks the sediment up from the bottom of the river and pushes it through a long pipe with tremendous force. Projecting from the forward part of the dredge is a wheel, consisting of a part of the dredge is a wheel, consisting of a series of steel knives about three feet in length, arranged around the circumference. The interior is hollow and a suction pipe runs down the hollow to the center.

The wheel is lowered into the water by means of cables running from an iron crane, After it touches the bottom it is set in motion. It eats its way into the bed of the river, the steel knives cutting up everything before them, and as the sediment falls into the hollow center of the wheel it is caught in the suction pipe and whirled through the tube for haif a mile. It is claimed that the dredge can do the work of ten ordinary dredges, and in one month it filled in a space of about a quarter of a mile square and from six to eight feet in depth.

From the Detreit Free Press.

"Once," remarked the Congressman from Kentucky, when the Congressman from Georgia gave him a chance for his white ailey, "I had factional fight in one of the back counties in my district and I proceeded thither to effect a settlement and obtain an amicable condition. I called a meeting of the leaders of the distributed element, and amicable condition. I called a meeting of the leaders of the disgruntled element, and after a balf hour's discussion I said:

"Gentlemen, we owe it to our party to stand together, and laying saids all dissensions come out as one man for harmony."

"How's that," quickly put in the spokesman, a grim and grizzled old wheel horse.

I repeated my advice, and they withdrew for consultation. In ten minutes they returned.

REAL ESTATE NEWS.

pening Loughborough Avenue, Caron-The property owners on Loughborough avenue, from Virginia avenue to Gravois road, have been notified that on Dec. 15 the city for the opening of Loughborough avenue so as to conform to the other boulevards. In some blocks there will be as much as twenty feet to come off the present front of lots. feet to come off the present front of lots. The average amount the property owners will have to give up to the widening of the street, however, will be but ten feet. Along the south side of Carondelet Park the street has been left its proper width, and consequently for a little over one mile of the distance no changes will be necessary.

Business in real estate circles to-day was quiet. Few sales were reported in consequence of the disagreened weather.

Charles H. Turner & Co. this morning sold a handsome new nine-room brick residence, with 50x127½ feet of ground, on the south side of Cook avenue, near Academy, for $8,220, from the Mackie Construction Co. to Mrs. Rose Flannigan, for a home. The house is one of several now being finished by the Mackie Construction Co.

Malcolm Macbeth reports the sale of 33x140 feet of ground on the south side of Cook avenue, between Sarah and Vandeventer avenues, for $2,145; from Joseph Flannery to Theo Temple. Chas. F. Vogel represented the purchaser.

Warrant for Embensiement Against P. M. Manning.

THE REAL ESTATE MAN'S FINANCIAL TROUBLES END IN A PROSECUTION.

Withholding $208 of Her Money-Had Vedeced Him-Complaint About a Watch Company-Police News.

Mrs. Anna Kenna of 3586 Laclede avenue Mrs. Anna Kenna of 3836 Laclede avenue swore out a warrant for embezzlement today against Philip M. Manning, president of the Manning Real Estate Co., which up to six weeks ago was located at 506 Chestnat street. Mrs. Kenna left the collection of her rents in Mr. Manning's hands, and claims there is $208 due her which heragent failed to make good.

Mr. Manning has been a resident of the city for thirteen years and is guite well city for thirteen years and is quite well known in business and fraternal circles. About six weeks ago his affairs had became so entangled during the times of financial stringency that he was forced to succumb. Up to that time he held the post of secretary of time he held the post of secretary of the Virginia Building and Loan Association and of the Mississippi Building and Loan Association. Both were supposed to be in a prosperous condition until the Bogard and Blood affairs scared members. An investigation was made and tue secretaryships transferred to John H. Holmes, Mr. Manning's accounts were found to be correct. He transferred to the Virginia Association his house on West Morgan street, valued at $8,500, and also thirty-five feet of ground near Farlea, and Clarence avenues. Mr. Manning's business troubles are said to have been due to the hard times. He settled quite a number of claims, and his friends will be surprised to learn that among them his account with Mrs. Kenna was not squared up.

Complains About a Watch Company, Miss Florence Ray of 1714 Chestnut street called at the prosecuting attorney's office to-day and complained against the Mammoth Watch Co., at Ninth and Olive streets, which has been so much written up lately. She said that she had been induced by an agent of the concern to give an order for a watch. She said that she was to get the watch for $4$ upon getting some other orders and was to have a year in which to get the subscribers. She paid the $4$, and alleges that when she went to get the watch she was told that she would have to pay $17 for it. She did not know the name of the agent who took her order. He did not sign his name to the contract, but put initials. The initial for the surname is unintelligible. Miss Ray was told that nothing could be done for her.

The Conductor Could Not Make Her Understand the Rules. from the Detroit Free Press,
A woman stood at the corner of Baker and Twelfth streets and waved her parasol for the car to stop.

The driver nodded his head.

She waved a parasot in one hand and a shopping bag in the other. The driver nodded and pointed and stopped the car on the other side of the street.

She came limping over the pavement with snapping eyes and flushed face, and as she put her foot on the lower step she excitaimed.

out her foot on the lower step she excitaimed.

"Are you all blind and deaf on this car?"

The conductor rang two bells and made no answer, and when she had taken a seat inside a passenger asked:

"Why didn't you explain that she was on the wrong side of the street for the car coming down?"

"By dear man, it would have been breath thrown away," he replied. "That woman lives around here and has been riding on this line for five years. I've explained and explained, and so has every other conductor, but what good has it done! Not one woman in twenty will ever get it through her head that a car can't stop in the center of a crossing and block a street, and so we must put up with her 'saas' and look for our relief beyond the stars."

Dr. C. H. Banrichter of 1014 Brooklyn street, an alleged director, testified that if he was a director that he did not know it, and that he had not attended any meeting of directors or had been notified to attend any. G. A. Heimberger of 4775 Labadie avenue, a director, testified that he had attended no meetings and owned no stock.

of 4773 Labadle avenue, n. director, testified that he had attended ne meetings and owned no stock.

Robert Tierney, aged 16 years, who had been employed by Mrs. Blood, testified that he owned no stock, but that Mrs. Blood had told him that she wanted him to be considered as a director.

Edward Schmidt, a clerk in Mrs. Blood's employ, testified to sending out 5,000 circulars with Mrs. Blood's name attached as Secretary.

Attorney Christian, Mrs. Blood's lawyer, offered no evidence, but argued the case from a point of law. He claimed that the elements of a case had not been made out. He claimed that it was necessary to show that Mrs. Blood had converted the money to her own use which was not done. It made no matter he claimed whether she was secretary of the association or not.

Attorney Dalton addressed the Court on behalf of the State when Judge Chalborne announced that he would take the case under advisement.

LECTURED THE UNDERTAKER. Coroner Frank Has a Tilt With John

This morning Coroner Frank and John Sheahan, an employe and son of Jeremiah Sheahan, ex-city undertaker, had a lively tilt in the office of the former over the charges made concern-ing an alleged irregular handling over the charges made concerning an alleged 'irregular handling of the remains of George Jones, who died on Nov. 4 from the effects of burns received on the same day on the Lamf Ferry road.

Mr. Sheahan claimed that Eberle & Keyes had written a letter to Jones' father at Boyer, Wright Co., Mo., to the effect that they had buried the remains of his son in Old Pickett's Cemetry and that deceased had left money sufficient to defray the expenses of the funeral. Sheahan also claimed that he had received a telegram from the father on Nov. 10 to take charge of the remains of his son, and that when a claim was made at the Morgae for the body he was told the body was not there, when, he said, it was. Jones' body was buried on Nov. 9 in potters' field, and Messrs. Eberle and Keyes claim that they wrote to Jones' father and told him that they intended to bury the body in Old Picketts, and informed him that there was sufficient money left by deceased, $11, with which to defray the expenses of a decent buried. The body had not been buried at the time the letter was written.

This morning Coroner Frank became quite angry at the bickerings of undertakers over the dead and informed Mr. John Sheahan that if he could not get along without creating disturbance and dissension and unjust publicity of charges he would be obliged to deprive him of the privileges of the office.

forests of India and Ceylon, the trumpeting and roaring of the animals is continuous and and roaring of the animals is continuous and terrific, and can be heard for miles. The feline family are wont to scare their prey thoroughly by their overpowering noise. Thus the roar of the adult lion is terrific, the windpipe being enlarged so as to give the animal a larger volume of air proportiona rely than any other animal. The male gorilla has an awful loud-sounding voice. When attacked it utters a short, jerking, acute bark, like that of an anry dox. To this succeeds a low growling, which might be mistaken for distant thunder.

At Home to Him.

From the New York Weekly. Mr. Sapple: "I am glad to learn that your sister is at home."

A Divorced Wife's Inquiries.

Recorder Hobbs has received a letter from Mrs. Ella Taylor of 807 Cohea street, Jackson, Miss., laquiring whether a marriage license had been issued to W. B. Taylor of Jackson, Miss., and Miss Della L. Bennett of St. Louis. A license had been issued to this couple on Oct. 19, and they were married by Rev. Edgar L. Morse, a Congregational minister at Lindenwood, a small station on the 'Frisco Haliroad. It is said that the couple are well known in Jackson. Taylor is alleged to have been married once, and about two years ago to have deserted his wife, taking his three children some place in Kentucky, where he left them in the care of Miss Bennett, whom he has since married. Last October he is said to have been divorced, although his wife fought the case bitterly. He is the son of H. M. Taylor, a prominent citizen of Jackson. He is 40 years old and is engaged in the brick manufacturing business. The letter received by Recorder Hobbs was from the divorced wife. Mrs. Ella Taylor of 307 Cohea street, Jack-

THE GREAT BATSMAN DISSATISFIED WITH HIS BROOKLYN BERTH.

Local Fans Hope the Report That Prestdent Von der Ahe Ras Secured an Op tion On His Services Is Correct-The St. Louis Magnate Returned To Day-Local Sporting News and Gossip.

President Von der Ahe and Secretary Geo Munson of the Browns will return to the city to morrow. The League meeting was wound up last Friday and most of the magnates returned to their homes immediately nounced before he left for the meeting that he would be detained in Philadelphia a day or two on his way back in connection with the suit Mark Baldwin, the New York authority. Of him his opponents always pitcher, has pending against him. It will be remembered that the St. Louis mag-nate had the big pitcher caged in this city several years ago for inducing certain Amercan Association players to jump that organization's reserve-rule edict and sign League contracts. Those were the days when the ssociation, League and Brotherhood were fighting one another, and the players were in over. Baldwin did not fancy the treatment he received in this city, and he has been enleavoring ever since to obtain redress in the shape of several thousand dollars' damages from the President of the Browns. The latter ofesses to believe that Baldwin's prospects in this respect are not very rosy.

of new Sportsman's Park refused to give out any definite information regarding what new faces will be seen in Brownstocking uniforms next season. It is to be noped there is some truth in the report that he has secured an option on the services of big Dan Brouthers, the hard-sway for the last decade as the leading batsman on the diamond. He is very much dissatisfied, however, with the treatment he received the past season from the Brooklyn management, and Byrne and his assochates concluded it would be best to replace him on first base with Dave Foutz, who will manage and captain the Bridegrooms, next season. A consistent safe-hitter like Brouthers would be just the man for the Browns, and no effort should be spared to secure him. If Charley Farrell could be secured in return for 'Kid' Gleason, another weak spot on the Browns behind the bat would be strengthened without weakening the pitching department much. President Von der Ahe is determined to start out next season with another first-class catcher and two new reliable infielders, for first and third base. If he succeeds in getting the latter Werden will be dropped and Crooks retained for general utility purposes. Manager W. H. Watking is expected to sign a con-

The St. Louis Cycling Club's Annua Hare and Hound Chase.

The St. Louis Cycling Club's annual hard and hound chase is scheduled to take place course. Elegant prizes will be given to the five hares and five hounds that show up first. The destination of the chase and the route ot be pursued will not be announced. It has been decided that the hares should not be restricted to any particular route. not be restricted to any particular route. This plan ought to increase the interest in the chase. The Cycling Club's run over to Waterloo Sunday was well attended. The roads were in first-class condition, and the boys were royally received at the pretty little Illinois town. This run has been called before on numerous different occasions by the local wheel organizations, but the Cycling Club was the first to carry it out.

The mass meeting of local wheelmen at the Pastime Athletic Club last Saturday even-ing was a "frost." The attendance was ex-ceedingly light, and it was decided to take no coentry regarding the scheme of holding a big tournament in this city next season. Another meeting, which it is thought will be better attended, has been called to consider the matter. The idea of the promoters of that's all."—[Answers.

the scheme is to have each and every local wheelman interested financially to a small extent in the tournament.

John and Bud Weaver and Alex Fox of the cycling club are now camping out in this State. The trio write to friends stating that they are having a splendid time and do not expect to return home until next February. Bob Laing, also of the cycling club, will join them shortly for a two weeks' vacation.

E. S. Barnard, Secretary and Treasurer of the Missouri Division, L. A. W., is given much credit for the recent success of the Holm faction in L. A. W. State politics. He demonstrated conclusively that, in his way, he was an artist at wire-pulling.

The officers found the appliances in a box, two feet beneath the surface. The contents were worth $200. Buder's companions were Edward Lorenz of 2330 Arkansas avenue, 18 years; James Ashby of 3521 Shenandoah street, 15 years. The total amount of their stealings approximates $1,000. Each of the lads has been arrested twice and bailed out, upon warrants obtained against them by different electrical companies. Ashby and Lorenz were lodged in the Fifth District Station again last night, but Buder disappeared before the police could arrest him the third time. The thefts extended over a long period and were discovered when officer Morgan arrested Lorenz for stealing carpenter's tools with which the boys intended to arrange their instruments. ances in the rear of 3321 Shenandoah street,
